Bethel will aid but not fund river cleanup effort

By ALISON ALOISIO
Bethel selectmen last week declined to provide financial support to a large-scale cleanup of the Androscoggin River spearheaded by the Communities Getting Involved organization.

The town will, however, offer the help of the town crew in hauling away trash taken from the river, and provide Davis Park as a staging area.

The cleanup, to be done by volunteers, will span 102 miles of the river from Gilead to Merrymeeting Bay during the second week of August.

The 20 towns along the river have been asked to contribute $50 per mile of Androscoggin shoreline within their borders.

For Bethel, that would total $500. But selectmen said the request falls in a difficult phase in the town's budget cycle.

Hanover selectmen have also declined to provide a financial commitment, but have generally lent their support to the

Retirement settlement could prove costly for Bethel

By MICHAEL DANIELS

In 1982 town officials "dropped the ball," according to Town Manager Scott Cole, and now Bethel taxpayers may be asked if they are willing to pick up the tab — which could involve up to $178,000 of town money.

That figure represents money that was not contributed by the town to the Maine State Retirement System after most employees withdrew from the system in 1982, as well as the interest that would have accrued.

The town of Bethel joined the state system in 1978, but in 1982 all but two of participating employees opted out of the system, accepting checks for the amount they had already contributed.

Only one of the two employees who stayed in the system, Rob Gundersen, still works for the town, but because there is one employee participating, the town remains part of the system, and employees who were hired after 1982 should have been told they were eligible to participate.

They were not, said Town Manager Scott Cole, and now the town finds itself in a position where it is apparently legally required to offer employees not only the opportunity to participate (to purchase "back service"), but also to make up for the funds that were not contributed and the interest those funds would have accrued.

"The matter is ripening and the town must act on its relationship with the Maine State Retirement System," Cole told a joint meeting of the Board of Selectmen and Budget Committee on Monday.

The two boards had met to review a draft Town Meeting warrant that would have raised the money for the purchase of back service ($92,183 to $120,565); and the money the

Rite Aid intersection work delayed

By ALISON ALOISIO

A project to improve safety at Bethel's Route 2/Parkway intersection is now expected to get underway around Labor Day — later than the Maine Department of Transportation had originally hoped, according to Jim Mansir, project engineer.

Bids for the work are scheduled to be opened July 27. It will then take about three or four weeks to get paperwork in order before actual work can start, Mansir said.

"We're a little behind where we had hoped to be," he said. The plan calls for the installation of two pairs of alternately flashing warning lights at the junction, the removal or relocation of trees, utility poles and a sign to improve visibility, and some adjustments in traffic lanes and an island.

The project also includes closing the current entrance to the Crossroads Diner. The diner will instead share the Rite Aid entrance.

The contract will call for work to be completed by the end of the construction season, Nov. 15.

Fire regs go to Newry voters

By ALISON ALOISIO

A special Town Meeting in Newry scheduled for Monday evening will consider the adoption of a new Fire Protection Ordinance.

Residents will also vote on proposed amendments to the Sign Ordinance, Road Design and Construction Standards, and the Comprehensive Plan.

Hot issue

The proposed Fire Ordinance will likely generate the most discussion.

It includes a requirement that all new one- and two-family dwellings have sprinkler systems installed.

Town officials have been considering the ordinance for the past year and a half. The discussion began with subdivisions, but progressed to include all single-family dwellings, out of concerns for fairness to all residents.

But the plan met with opposition at a public hearing last month. Some residents argued it should be their decision whether to protect themselves.

The Planning Board has endorsed the sprinkler proposal, but selectmen have not.

Bruce Pierce, Newry's assistant fire chief, has been the NFD's key person working on the ordinance.

SCREW AUGER RESCUE

Members of the Newry Fire Department and Bethel and Tri-Town Rescue teamed up last Thursday morning to rescue a Pennsylvania man who fell from Screw Auger Falls in Grafton Notch. Roger Durlin, 52, of Mill Village, Pa., fell about 20 feet after trying to jump across the falls, according to game warden Steve Alarie. Durlin's companions pulled him from the water unconscious. Rescuers arrived and placed him on a stretcher, then carried him out of the water and up the bank to an ambulance. He was taken a mile down the road to meet a LifeFlight helicopter, and was flown to Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston. As of Wednesday, Durlin was in fair condition.

AN AWESOME COLLECTION

To the Editor:
The fifth annual Telstar Car Show was held on Mollyockett Day. The show had 141 fantastic entries. New this year was a tractor class that was a big hit.

Special thanks to Earl Coolidge, Peter Haines and Jim Swan for creating the energy for this new class. Spectators who came to support the school were also treated to view an awesome collection of cars, trucks, motorcycles and tractors on the fields at Telstar Regional High School.

The show would not be possible without the efforts of the entire local community. Money will continue to go into a scholarship fund. The boys' baseball team and the Class of 2006 were also able to raise funds from the show.

The Friends of Telstar would like to thank the many businesses and individuals who helped make the show come to life.

Trophy Sponsors were James Knight Contractor, Norsemen Cycle, Race Basics, Cole's Custom Auto, Berlin City Ford, The Dave Murphy Family, Mt. Will Associates, Pat's Auto Sales, Kelley's Auto Parts, Western Maine Supply Company, Tuckerman Auto Electric, Bennett's Automotive, R.A. Douglass & Sons, E & E Awards, Telstar Alumni Association, and Friends of Telstar, who proudly display their business/individual names on the 68 trophies awarded that day.

Door Prize Sponsors were Advance Auto Parts, Frost Motor Supply, Motor Supply Company, VIP, WCSH Channel 6, Brooks Bros., Inc., and Bethel Foodliner.

Brenda Wight and Linda Howe donated items that were given out to the five-year show participants as an appreciation/thank-you gift. In addition to the door prizes, a case of motor oil was given out to the person who traveled the farthest — Vermont.

Linda Howe, Marilyn Swan, Brenda Wight, Grayson Wakefield, Ken Cole, Jamie Cole, Bronson Cole, Bert Cole, Eli Mann and Gina Douglass were members of the planning team for this successful Telstar event. Other individuals who also played a part in making the show a success were Eileen Meisner, Bob Howe, Jim Swan, Brad Wight, Scott Parker, Eileen Broderick, Susan Gordon, Ray Crockett, The Bethel Citizen, John and Joan Kimball, Ross Swan, Clint Wakefield, SAD44 Buildings and Grounds crew, Neil Olson, Dan Dimambro, boys' baseball team parents and Telstar seniors, Class of 2006.

The free shuttle service from the Chapman Inn to Telstar was provided by Sunday River Ski Resort with the continued enthusiastic support from Dana Bullen and J.D. Devivo along with the friendly Bob Cloud at the wheel.

The Friends of Telstar would also like to give special thanks to Frank and Gloria Burgess for their volunteer help and suggestions on creating the show. The Burgesses also donated a stuffed polar bear with baby, which was used as a raffle item for the show.

The Friends of Telstar appreciate all the efforts of the community to help make this show a success on Mollyockett Day. When the community stands behind its public schools and the students who attend them, great events can become a reality. It truly does take a village to raise a child.

We look forward to seeing everyone on the fields at Telstar for our 6th annual Telstar Car Show on July 15, 2006.

BICENTENNIAL KUDOS

To the Editor:
As an avid reader and "native" Bethelite and now a Newry resident, I would like to compliment all of those dedicated people who put together and presented us with a wonderful Bicentennial Day. It was a rousing success.

Also, "kudos" to The Bethel Citizen and staff for their coverage and participation in same. We are so fortunate to have our local paper and have it be such a great "rag."

STONES, BONES, CLAWS, JAWS

To the Editor:
On July 24 the Bethel Alliance Church will be hosting the Rev. Paul Veit, who will be speaking at both the 9 a.m. Sunday School hour and the 10 a.m. Worship Service.

The Rev. Veit is a Christian and Missionary Alliance pastor, who will speak on the topic "Stones and Bones, Claws and Jaws: Evolution vs. Creation." He has an extensive collection of archaeological artifacts and will be bringing some with him.

I know this is a controversial issue and we invite all who are interested to attend. Bethel Alliance Church is located on Route 26 across from the Telstar Middle/High School parking lot. Please call 824-2289 for more details.

NTL-FEST INVITES BETHEL RESIDENTS

To the Editor:
"NTL-Fest" is coming! Aug. 6 marks the beginning of a two-week "festival" of workshops, working meetings and social gatherings for National Training Laboratories members, participants in NTL certificate programs, graduates of the American University/NTL Masters' program and interested Bethel residents. With the exception of working meetings (open only to members) which take place on Sunday, Aug. 7; Monday, Aug. 8; and Saturday, Aug. 13, all workshops and social events are open to Bethel residents.

The meeting will open on the evening of the sixth, with a reception, speakers and an interactive opening ceremony partially focused on honoring the long history of the relationship between Bethel and NTL. Bethel residents are also welcome to attend a community gathering jointly hosted by NTL and the Bethel Task Force at Bingham House on the evening of Thursday, Aug. 11, and a "Gala" dinner-dance on the NTL campus on Saturday, Aug. 13. A modest fee will be charged for the Gala.

Workshops open to Bethel residents will begin on Tuesday, Aug. 9, continuing through Monday, Aug. 15. While there is no fee for Bethel residents to attend these workshops, registration is strongly encouraged so that we can make appropriate accommodations. In addition to workshops, which will typically last three hours, there are several multi-day programs being offered, some of which are also open to Bethel residents, for a fee. Two examples are a Peace Building training program and a Writing Workshop. Watch for a more detailed schedule of programs here in The Citizen or visit NTL's website at www.ntl.org/ntlfest for more information on workshop content, program schedule and registration.

For many Bethel residents, there are fond memories of NTL summer programs filling the campus at the upper end of Broad Street. Even though the number of programs and participants may have declined in recent years, NTL continues to have a presence in Bethel and a relationship with the community. This two-week festival is part of that ongoing relationship.

President, NTL

TRUE GIFTS OF HEALING

To the Editor:
Congratulations and heartfelt thanks to hosts Gary and Anne Stuer of Bethel, to participants of the greater Bethel area, and to Bridges to Health and Healing, the community's grassroots organization of health and wellness practitioners, who celebrated their first year's anniversary with a "Summer Social" community event last week.

Friday evening, more than twenty people between ages 30 and 70 attended the outdoor event held on the beautiful grounds of the Stuer's property, and participated in a "Ceremony of Gratitude" for all of life's blessings. The experience invited each to honor and appreciate this land, these mountains, the waterways, the people who choose to live here, and for all forms of life in the natural world around us.

It was a great honor and joy to conduct this reverent, participatory ceremony where the perceived sense of community united and amplified our intentions to give back to the Earth. Perhaps the uplifting experience will linger indefinitely as living testimony to the potency of our true gifts of healing, in community.

NINTH ANNUAL CANOE AND KAYAK RACE

To the Editor:
The ninth annual Androscoggin River Canoe and Kayak race will take place this Sunday, July 24. Originally scheduled for Father's Day, we had to reschedule because of high water and predicted weather.

The race continues a tradition that has been going on for nearly 20 years. Moreover, it mirrors the rebirth and reclamation of our river, in part by strong community involvement. Today, we swim, fish, canoe, kayak and tube on a river that was once considered one of the most polluted rivers in North America. The new recreation bridge (or, to be more precise, what has been constructed so far) will play a central role as a starting and finishing point in the race.

All are welcome to race. There are categories for the hardcore racers, with bent paddles, camels on their back, sliding seats, and canoes or kayaks that would tip over at the hands of all but the most accomplished paddlers. But equally we have categories for average paddlers. In the Recreation Class, anyone can have fun in a single or double canoe or kayak. We are particularly looking for young folk to participate. Afterward, we will provide a barbecue lunch, and the friendship, camaraderie and fun involved in an event like this is worth a little effort.

The race is sponsored by Bethel Outdoor Adventure and Campground. Registration is at 8 a.m. on Sunday, and more details can be had by calling the front desk at 824 4224. The start and finish will be right at the campground. There is a small entrance fee.

effort, according to town clerk Clem Worcester.

Gilead selectmen have not yet met to consider the request, according to administrative assistant Beverly Corriveau.

Most towns donating

Erick Goodwin, CGI executive director, acknowledged that this is generally a difficult time in many towns' budget cycle to ask for money.

But overall, he said, "the fundraising from municipalities is actually going quite well. Most towns are coming up with the money in one way or the other. There are only a few that have said 'no'."

"Different towns all have their own crosses to bear with budgets, towns needs, etc. Many have discretionary, unused, or other funds that can be allocated, some don't. So goes fundraising. The towns that do not provide financial support, for the most part, are providing other types of support to the effort."

CGI will also be asking corporations, local businesses and individuals to support the cleanup with volunteers, funding, marketing and logistical support, Goodwin said.

More information on the cleanup effort can be found on the Web at www.communitiesgettinginvolved.org

Land next to spring for sale

WOODSTOCK — Property adjacent to the Roadside Spring in Bryant Pond is now for sale, according to Town Manager Vern Maxfield. The 3-acre parcel on Route 26, if sold, could be converted to at least two house lots, he said. Maxfield said there is a possibility any well drilling that results could affect the spring.

Jay mill to be sold

JAY — International Paper Company plans to sell its Jay and Bucksport mills according to the statements issued by Maine's two U.S. senators. The move is part of a restructuring plan to increase profits and reduce debt. Sens. Olympia Snowe and Susan Collins were told IP does not expect an impact on jobs in Maine. But the company also said that in its overall plan it will likely cut a substantial number of jobs over the next two years. A total of 1,800 people are employed at the two Maine mills, with 1,000 in Jay. The restructuring plan will focus on IP's uncoated paper business. Both Maine mills produce coated paper used for such items as magazines and catalogues.

Gould soccer camp

BETHEL — Fifty-four local soccer players are sweating it out at Bethel's weeklong Soccer Camp at Gould Academy. Designed for children of varying soccer experience and skill, the camp is divided into three co-ed, age appropriate categories. From 9 a.m. until 12 p.m., players partake in hour-long activities, beginning with a large group warm-up, followed by an hour of technical skill training, and ending with small-group competition. Besides being the favored choice of campers, who particularly enjoy such games as "Doctor, Doctor" and "Torpedo," the small group competitions give campers an opportunity to utilize and reinforce the skills learned in previous sessions. In the last session, groups of three and four campers play constant, rotating five-minute games, during which their points are noted and tracked throughout the week. Prizes will be handed out accordingly on Friday. Camp directors Brett Shiffrin and Brad Clarke both teach at Gould and have hosted and organized Bethel's soccer camp for six years. Brett is not only Gould's varsity soccer coach, but also a Maine Olympic development coach and holds a U.S. Soccer Federation National B coach's license. As present and former Gould students, soccer camp counselors are quite comfortable on the campus playing fields. Brian Broderick, 2002 Gould alumni and captain of the UMF soccer team, is among those who are assisting the coaches. Others include current Gould varsity soccer captain Charles Parsons ('06), Will Carver ('06), Randy Savage ('06), Hannah Cowen ('06), Nagin Dalpour ('07), Jonathan Parsons ('08), and Peter Cowen ('10).

Tour of early barns

HARRISON — As a part of this year's "Back to the Past" event at Scribner's Mill and in celebration of Harrison's bicentennial, tours of early Harrison Barns with barnwright Scott Hatch, will be offered Saturday and Sunday August the 6th and 7th. The tours begin at 9:30 a.m. at Scribner's Mill and will include an in-depth inspection of four area barns. Participants will learn the history of early Maine barns, the difference between the English and French styles and the merging of the two. Structural assessments and repair options will be discussed. Those wishing to participate in both tours will visit 8 different barns. Tours begin at 9:30 a.m. at Scribner's Mill. The fee for the each tour is $35. Tour participants will return to Scribner's Mill for lunch, then continue the tour in the afternoon. For more information and a registration form call 583-6455.

Meth called most dangerous drug

PORTLAND — Among illegal drugs, methamphetamine has surpassed marijuana as the greatest danger to the nation's children, U.S. Attorney General Alberto Gonzales said Monday. But law enforcement officials are making progress in battling the scourge of meth abuse, Gonzales told the summer conference of the National District Attorneys Association. Meth lab seizures, for example, plunged in states such as Oklahoma, Oregon and Arkansas after they restricted consumer access to cold medicines containing pseudoephedrine, a key ingredient in manufacturing the drug. "These results are dramatic and they're real," Gonzales said. "They show progress is possible." Methamphetamine was once associated with rural, blue-collar users. But the drug has invaded big cities and its abusers now include members of all racial and economic groups, Gonzales said. "In terms of damage to children and to our society, meth is now the most dangerous drug in America, having surpassed marijuana," Gonzales said. More than half of the sheriffs interviewed for a National Association of Counties survey released earlier this month said they considered meth the most serious problem facing their departments.

town would have contributed as employer share ($15,876, for FY 06).

A third article on the warrant would also have created a loan fund so that the town could loan money to employees whose back service contributions would be more than $5,000.

The employees themselves would be responsible for the first $5,000; the town would loan them the amount over that amount.

The loans would then be paid back to the town over a maximum term of 10 years, with no interest being charged.

But no date was set Monday for a special Town Meeting, as members of both boards said they needed further information regarding the legalities of the complex situation.

A subsequent executive session with the town attorney on Tuesday also failed to completely answer all the questions, said Stanley Howe, chairman of the Board of Selectmen. The two boards are tentatively scheduled to discuss the situation at another meeting today (Thursday, July 21).

In an unrelated budget matter, the two boards did agree Monday to recommend that the town accept a grant for an undetermined amount of the money from the USDA's Emergency Watershed Protection Program to stabilize the Androscoggin River Bank near the Riverside Cemetery.

The town would be responsible for 25 percent of the cost, with that money to come from the Riverside Cemetery Association.

Norman Dock is now at the Veterans' Home in South Paris.

Surgery patients at Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway, are Edna York, Mary Paine and Hope Tibbetts.

The Cross Country Quilters are now meeting at the Bethel Methodist Church dining room Thursday afternoons from 1 to 3. We had a visitor, Phyllis Hughes from Millersville, Pa., this past week who presented a wonderful show of her quilts to the group.

Tim and JoAnn Korhonen have returned from a wonderful ten-day trip to Finland visiting Tim's cousins. They also went to the Arctic Circle. While they were gone Kate Hedden and Tracey Wilkerson, teachers at Gould Academy, stayed on the farm and took care of the animals.

The parade at Mollycokett Day was spectacular. Outstanding was Mick Kelley and his pair of steers, the only animals in the parade. It was a family affair; even dad was the poopier scooper. Mick has trained in 4-H and has won blue ribbons at the Ossipee Fair and named Herdsman.

Hi and Mary Lou Berry enjoyed company over the last weekend, Mary Lou and Roger Killelea; Allyson, George Gartley and Jacob and Megan from Massachusetts; also "Gertie" the beagle.

Oxford Hills Duplicate Bridge played a cool game Friday. Winners were: first, Bill Bowman and Mimi Bell; tied for second/third, Adele Bendes and Nancy Farmer with Georgette Jewell and Pat Quinn; fourth, Richard Balian and Nick Karamessinis. Also, placing were Eleanor Griffin and Jim Dickens; Cindy Kirchherr and Carol Curran; Paul and Barbara Beegel.

Erland and Margaret Wentzell and friend of Windham were in Bethel on July 10 and with his sister, Mary Wentzell Eichel of Songo Pond and Worcester, Mass., attended the Bethel United Methodist Church. This was their home church many years ago when the family lived in Bethel. Later they toured Bethel and their roots.

Jon and Debbie Knight of Worcester, Mass., arrived Friday to visit for the weekend with her mother, Mary Eichel, and attend Mollycokett Day. They participated in the Mollycokett Day five-mile road race. The family had dinner at the Fire Station and in the evening they returned to enjoy the fireworks display and said they were spectacular.

Dan and Jeanine Conant

Rand and two boys, Joshua and Marcus from Glen Allen, Va., were visitors with Roger and Lillian Conant the week of July 8 thru 16. Lance Tyler of Albany spent the week with his grandparents, as well, while his parents were away.

Jake and Lorena Tyler of Albany were in Lauden, N.H., for the races this past weekend.

Aaron the Triste Conant of Portsmouth, R.I., are pleased to announce the arrival of a baby girl, Megan Renee Conant, born on June 7, 2005 at Newport, R.I., Hospital, weighing 7 pounds, 8 ounces. Maternal grandparents are Robert and Mercedes Coulombe of Newport, R.I. Paternal grandparents are Roger and Lillian Conant of Bethel.

Justin and Sue Bailey Rice of Guilford, Conn., are pleased to welcome a little son, William Douglas Rice, born on June 21, 2005 at the Yale-New Haven Hospital in New Haven, Conn. Farewell wishes to Postmaster Chuck Cornwell, as he leaves the Andover Post Office for a new job in Steep Falls.

As many of you may have noticed, there are new "No Smoking" signs posted on the two town ball fields, courtesy of the Partnership For a Tobacco Free Maine, and Healthy Maine Partnerships.

Under adult advisor Carol Emery, several Andover teens volunteered their time in recent months to get the town to adopt a policy prohibiting tobacco use in recreational areas. The group includes Blake Conrad, Kayla Mills, Crystal Hadley, Mike Brown, Matt Mills, Jessie Farrington, Cindy Farrington, Amy Farrington and Lacey Gammon.

Get well wishes to Honey Cronin, who hasn't been feeling well.

Greg Peaslee returned home on Saturday after spending three weeks in Washington state visiting with his brother and family.

The Ellis River Riders will be having their first annual Chili Cook-off and Demo Day on Saturday, July 23, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the show grounds in South Andover. There will be lots to do for the kids too—wagon rides, face painting and kids games. Come and check it out.

"We've been working to educate the public on the safety benefits of sprinkler system installation in dwellings or other buildings," he said. The education effort will continue regardless of whether the ordinance passes, he said.

Information about the systems is now attached to building permit applications, he said.

As for the vote, "We want to see where the town stands, and we'll continue to move forward to protect the public," he said.

Among the amendments proposed for the Sign Ordinance are signs excepted from the ordinance. They include temporary, safety, land use traffic control, decorative and grandfathered signs. The amendment would also permit "Open" signs at businesses.

The changes also include clarifications of definitions, as well as a table of contents page to make referencing easier.

Road Ordinance amendments include dropping the designation of "internal vehicular" road for subdivisions of four homes or less. If approved, such roads would be required to be 18 feet wide instead of the current eight.

There are several amendments proposed for Newry's Comprehensive Plan. In 2003, the State Planning Office found what it termed several "inconsistencies" in the plan.

The amendments address those issues, which include provisions for affordable housing, strategies providing for orderly growth and development in critical rural areas, and protection of natural resources and groundwater.

The meeting will take place at the Town Office, beginning at 7 p.m. Copies of the ordinances and proposed changes are available at the Town Office.

The intersection has been designated a "high crash location" by MDOT, with the most recent serious crash happening two weeks ago.

A Lisbon woman was critically injured when she reportedly pulled out of the Rite Aid parking lot and was struck by a loaded, eastbound pulp truck.

There has been one fatal accident since the intersection was built in 1995.

Most of the serious accidents at the intersection have involved vehicles leaving Rite Aid. Visual obstructions, including poles, trees and snowbanks were cited as contributing to the crashes.

For several years, town officials and residents have put pressure on MDOT to install a traffic light. But MDOT has maintained the accident rate does not justify such a move.

This fall's work should not significantly disrupt traffic through the intersection, Mansir said. "Most of it will be happening beside the road," he said.

The victim of the most recent accident, Beverly Pecteau, 73, was still listed in critical condition Wednesday at Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston. She was staying with family in Bethel at the time of the accident.

Her 1998 Toyota Corolla was struck on the passenger side by a truck driven by George Kenney, 57, of George Kenney Trucking of Colebrook, N.H., according to Trooper Daniel Hanson of the Maine State Police.

Kenney braked coming off the overpass before striking the car. There was no indication he was speeding or was otherwise at fault, Hanson said. Kenney was not injured. Pecteau was taken by Bethel Rescue to the Bethel Airport, where she was LifeFlighted to CMMC.

Also at the scene were Bethel firefighters, Bethel police Sgt. S.R. White, Officer Buddy Richard and Chief Alan Carr, state troopers and Paris Police Officer Michael Daily, who reconstructed the accident.

Over the Bicentennial weekend, Karlene Bachelder had lots of her family visiting. They entered a float in memory of Ras; all were wearing T-shirts with Ras' picture on them. Her son, Brent, and Peter Haraty, who live in Providence, R.I., participated, as did her daughter, Heidi Littlefield with her daughter, Julie, and her children, Natalie and Alexis, from Winthrop. Heidi's son, Jodi Littlefield, and his daughter, Casey, from Waldoboro participated, as did Paul and Michelle Josephson and children, Nik and Kylie, from Cumberland. Daughter Clare and George Romano were here from Wiscasset.

Philip and Shannon O'Donnell were here with children Megan and Brady from Wilton. Karlene's sister, Wilma Stewart from Unity, joined the family festivities on Saturday and throughout the weekend. Karlene also told me she won the Quilt Raffle. Congratulations!

I didn't get to see the parade; Carol and I were in traffic behind it all.

Often I notice what I think are moose tracks on the side of the road, but realize they are tracks from the horses that Laura and Vicki Lowell ride. Both Laura and Vicki participated in the Bicentennial Parade, and I saw them, resplendent in their riding clothes, as they were leaving to get the horses back to their trailer.

More news on black bears. Apparently there have been several sightings in the area of late. All of them seem to come very close to homes. One destroyed animals being raised and was a general nuisance. For help and assistance, please contact the Game Warden Service by calling the Maine State Police in Gray at (800) 482-0730.

Friday evening, I had a mama raccoon and two babies on the deck. Last year, mama had four babies. Perhaps a mistake was made in feeding them in 2004.

Mark Wight is the ranger stationed in Grafton Notch this year. It's nice to have him very close to home and also not so far for Mo to travel to be with him.

Mandy Berry is home for a week from Deerfield, Fla., visiting family and friends.

Owen Wight and his son, Steve, took a trip to Deer Isle last Wednesday. They visited Delma Ross, a 97-year-old lady who used to care for Owen when he was a child while his parents were busy running the camps that still exist behind Bill and Sylvia's property. Steve was here about five days. He lives in The Bronx, N.Y., and works at the Bronx Zoo. He told his dad that he really enjoys his job at the zoo.

While at Dwayne's recently, I met Bill Stearns, who was using the computer at the garage. We were talking about computers and he told me that he had over 35 years of computer system experience and knowledge and that he did repairs and makes house calls. When I asked him where he lived, he said in Newry. Actually we are neighbors. If anyone needs help in his field of expertise, please call him at 824-0359 or e-mail him at billstearns@usa.net.

The Montgomery's place on the Branch Road has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Moulton. I wonder if they ride snowmobiles. The trial is just about in their driveway.

Sandra and Leon Dunn are home after spending two weeks at Richardson Lake. Two grandchildren were with them for part of the last week. They have a large lawn to mow down the hill to the road. It looks lovely with a garden area and silhouettes Leon has made to adorn a few areas. He surprised me by putting a cat silhouette on my mailbox.

Bill Wight had an operation on Friday and is doing well. He is at Mercy Hospital, Room 224. An update will be in next week's column.

"Quick, three beers!" That's the call of the olive-sided flycatcher. I don't usually hear them in these parts, although I've heard them often in Algonquin Park in Ontario. The other day on our morning walk in the National Forest, Jake and I were treated to this unmistakable song.

In other bird news, one day last week I heard this terrible fluttering and flapping and discovered that a yellow-bellied sapsucker had become stuck between the open casement window and its screen. The poor thing was becoming frantic, so I cranked open the window just a tad more, and it was able to make its escape. I sat for a few seconds on the patio, then flew off to join its mate, waiting in a nearby tree.

We've noticed that the wild Canada lilies are blooming in the woods. They are the bright yellow lilies with drooping heads. The cultivated Asiatic lilies have started opening in our garden, with one really spectacular clump of deep red ones. So far (knock wood) we have not been plagued with the beetles that seem to be destroying many people's lily plants.

Mollycokett Day has come and gone for another year, and from all accounts it was a most successful day. Many people ate too much barbecued chicken (how can you get too much?), and the parade was bigger and better than ever, with more floats and interesting designs. One woman in a Red Hat was spotted on a recumbent bike, which she had to dismount in order to wait for her walking Red Hat companions!

Some of the Senior Citizens group went last Wednesday to the swimming pond on the North Road. They had been invited to come by the Ernest Angevines, who gave the property to the town. It was a smallish group who enjoyed their picnic lunches in the very pleasant picnic area adjacent to the parking lot and brook. Don Bennett told the group a bit of the history of the town's efforts to acquire a public swimming area. It was a great cooperative effort on the part of many individual citizens, as well as local businesses and building tradespeople.

There is a footbridge to the pond and (luxury!) flush toilets. The pond water comes from ground water, not a river or stream, and is checked weekly for quality by the Water Department. At present there are no residential restrictions on use of the facility. There is an ample parking lot, and both it and the pond are fenced in and closed up at night. There is a gatekeeper who is the only paid employee, and she opens and closes "the swimming hole" each day.

We had some excitement on Saturday at the Hoehstead, with a surprise birthday party for Mike's 75th birthday, which is actually on the 18th. All our daughters and their families were there, of course, as well as Mike's sister Ruth and her husband, Fred Smith of Mendham, N.J.; nephew Dan and Tama Smith and children of Dover, Mass.; Hank and Shirley Bowen of Philadelphia; Eva and Hans Paulsen of Paris, Maine; Shireen and Jerry Vincent of Chestnut Knoll; cousins Eric and Lucia Schwarz of Bethel; Peter and Kathy Schwarz of Bethel.

In recognition of Mike's German heritage, the theme was "Oktoberfest in July," with German appetizers from the Good Food Store; German potato salad and bean salad; bratwurst and frankfurts from Karl's Sausage Kitchen in Sausalito, Mass.; and Hoeh-made apple, cherry, and cheese strudels. Daughter Cyndy brought a Black Forest cake made by a friend of hers, and there was plenty of good German bread to wrap around the brats.

Later in the evening, the teenage cousins in the group were ferried in to town to watch the Mollycokett fireworks, and they were retrieved at around 10. A good time was had by all, and the birthday boy was surprised, in spite of many inopportune phone calls and package deliveries during the week.

This Monday morning, it's hot and muggy and gray. Mike has started the sprinkler going in the garden, in hopes that his rainmaking trick will work again. But we're really thankful that we had a sunny, pleasant weekend.

Keep those calls and letters coming, folks. 836-3011; dhoe@megalink.net.

Arthur and Shannon Bernier of Cameron, N.C., visited Andre and Flossie Bernier on July 17.

Although the weather could be classed as perfect, it was very hot and humid. The lake water has reached its top temperature and many a good dip was enjoyed. From my porch I could see little heads bobbing up and down in the water, enjoying mid-summer's gift of good weather.

Mollycokett Day did not escape the heat, but it was a great day for the parade. We noticed the band moved into the shade of the trees on the common. The floats, Mollycokett and many fire trucks from many surrounding towns were all part of this annual celebration.

Friday, July 15, Evelyn Kenney, Barbara Stratton, Liz Stanczyk, Joan Miller, Sue Nelson and yours truly took advantage of the Senior Citizens (from Dixfield) trip to Cabbage Island. The tour of Boothbay Harbor and the Clambake on the island were topnotch. Everyone should try this trip; they will not be sorry, believe me.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

You know you're getting older when you can't stand most of the music of the younger generation. I never thought I'd see the day that I would make such a statement.

I can still hear my mother's exasperated voice saying, "Turn that darn racket down!" It was Credence Clearwater Revival for gosh sake. CCR was definitely not racket and why didn't she understand that?

She of the Bing Crosby era and me going through Beatlemania just plain did not see eye to eye on our musical preferences. I vowed I would be a lot more tolerant when I had teenage children of my own.

Years later with a teenage son and Aerosmith I had some idea where my mother was coming from. Some of the music my son listened to wasn't all that bad. I actually liked some of the lyrics, but the volume he felt he had to play it at was something else entirely.

I know I never played my music that loud. For one thing, my little portable record player with built-in speaker couldn't go all that loud. Doug, on the other hand had a stereo system with separate speakers, big speakers (his father and I foolishly gave it to him for Christmas) and he could really crank it up.

One day my husband and I had gone out and on our way home we assumed that there must have been a rock concert somewhere in town because we could hear the music. As we neared our street the music was loud enough to penetrate the closed windows of the car. As we approached our house we could actually feel the vibration of the base.

Imagine our surprise when we realized the music that we thought was coming from a live and heavily amplified band was coming from our son's bedroom. After his father pulled the plug on the stereo, I severely admonished him for the loudness of his music. "If you keep listening to that junk as loud as that it's going to make your head explode!"

"Teen's Head Explodes at Rock Concert."

That concept never scared my son, in fact, he thought it was pretty funny and felt it was merely confirmation of his belief that I was old and out of it. Now, as a nearing 40 adult, Doug still likes his music pretty loud. He may play it a few decibels lower than he did as a teen, but to me it is still head-exploding loud.

Last week while buying groceries my eyes landed on one of the supermarket tabloids. One of the headline stories validated what I have been telling my son for years. "Teen's Head Explodes at Rock Concert." I couldn't believe my eyes.

Needless to say, I just had to buy the paper so I could show it to Doug and be vindicated forever.

The paper reported about 17 year old Gerry Tillis of Winthrop, Indiana going to hear the band "Dirt Weasel," a hard rock group known for having towers of amplifiers and ultra-loud delivery.

According to lead guitarist Jake "Snake-eyes" Ballard, nothing like that had ever happened before. Well, I shouldn't think so!

Ballard went on to say that he had gone to center stage to sing a solo and saw a kid in a Goth T-shirt having some sort of a seizure. "I thought he was just trying to start a mosh pit," said Ballard, "But that's so retro and our auds are cooler than that!" Sensitive fellow, isn't he?

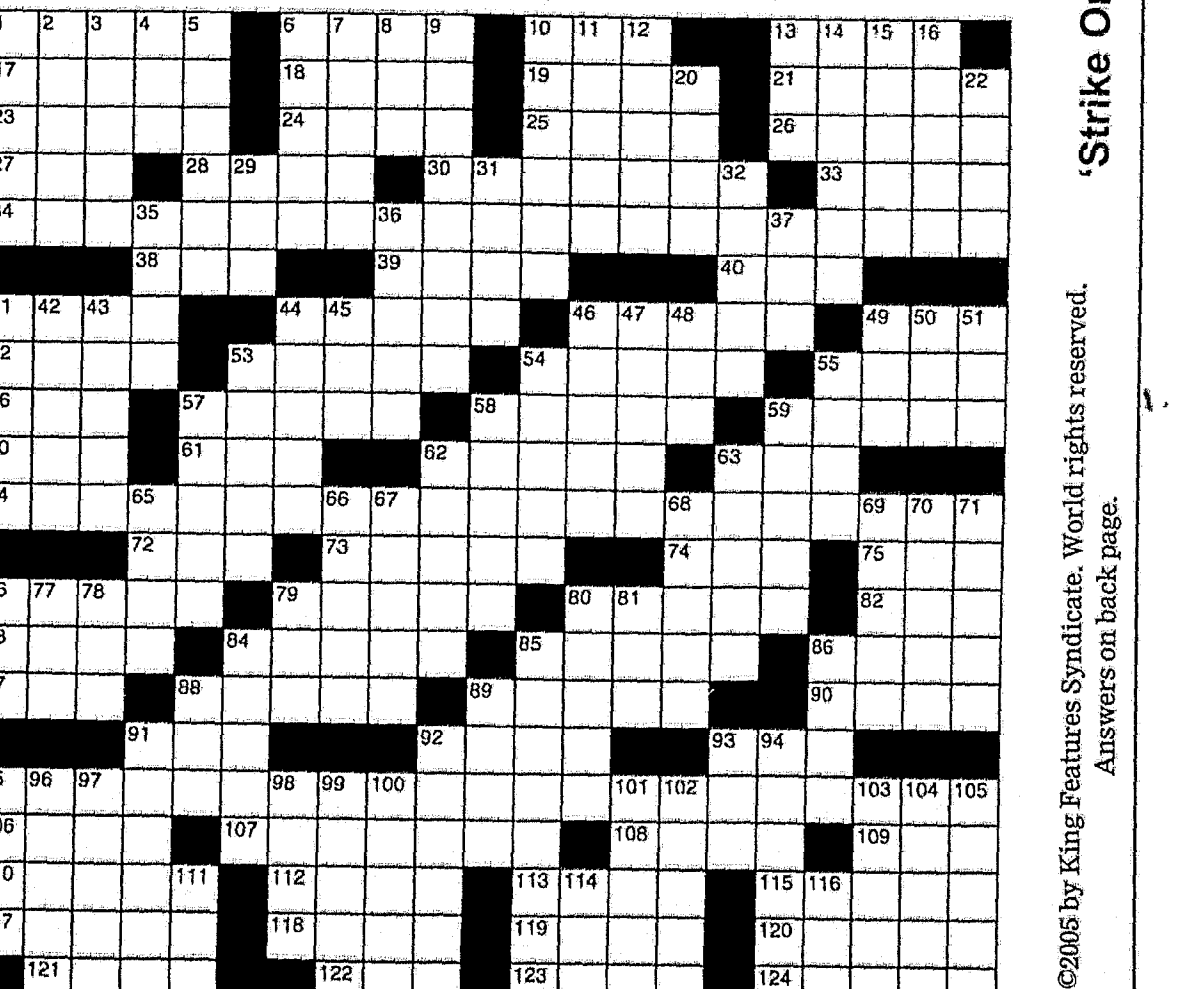

Then there was Tiffany, Gerry's girlfriend who said it was completely gross. I'm sure she was just in a state of shock because she obviously loved Gerry very much. "Don't say I'm like his former girlfriend because even though Gerry's skull fell all apart and he's dead, I'll love him forever," explained Tiffany. And to prove just that point she said, "I saved a piece of his - what did they call it? Craniemine? Or something." That's what I call true love.

As well as Gerry's head, there were four others that exploded at the same time. Prof. Calvin Mittridge from Indiana Polytechnic Junior College theorized that the explosions had something to do with loud noise interacting with a specific electrical frequency in their brains.

Such a tragedy and all because of very loud rock music. I'm going to make sure that I show this story to Doug just to prove that what I've been telling him for years actually can happen.

I'm pretty sure he won't believe it because another thing I've always harped on is not to believe anything he reads in a supermarket tabloid. But, I know my son and I'm pretty sure he will say, "You are right Mom, I never should doubt you." And the way I see it, that will truly be music to my ears and he should just turn it up.

Early Monday, July 11, at about 4 a.m. rescue personnel were called to a single vehicle accident on Route 2, near the Sunflower Farm. A pickup truck with Vermont plates left the road when the driver fell asleep, mowed off some trees and then hit an oak tree.

Both the driver and the passenger were injured, and rescue workers worked for an hour to free the passenger from the wreck.

An ambulance carried the driver to the hospital, but the more seriously injured man was transported to Barlow's field where LifeFlight took him by helicopter to Lewiston.

Gilead

by Lin Chapman

Well, it has been another weekend that has just been non stop. The weather cooperated very nicely for Mollycodd Day.

Earlier in the week, Dan and Luella Cole went camping over to Stony Brook to get away for a few days. They enjoyed themselves in spite of the hot weather. While they were there, they found out that the campers in the next site had a past connection with Gilead. The woman was the granddaughter of Stan and Lillian Moulton, who used to own the Evans Notch Motel several years ago. She used to visit her grandparents and remembered visiting with Dan and Luella's daughter, Kelly. I guess it is a small world.

My brother, Steve McLain, said he had a call from his previous neighbors, Lewis and Earlene Clough. They filled him in on some of their latest adventures. Hello to them and hope they are doing well.

Hugh Chapman and Linwood Cox decided on Friday that they had better tackle the tall grass between the railroad and Route 2 again. Hugh called Berry Belanger, roadmaster at the St. Lawrence and Atlantic Railroad office in Auburn to get the OK. It was quite a job and took them about four hours to get it done. Dan was busy that day but he assured them that he would be ready the next time.

It is great that these three volunteer their time to make this area of the town look so nice.

It was also really great to come home one day last week and see that the pile of dirt at the end of the siding had been smoothed out and there were rail stops at the end instead. Really looks a lot better. A big thank you to the railroad workers who accomplished this task.

Hugh and I just received a call from our son, Chris. He is having a very busy time at work getting ready for upcoming events. He is the promotions director for a radio station in Albuquerque, N.M. We were discussing about how Hugh's brother, Bill Lord of Phoenix, Ariz., is coming at the end of September for the Gould Academy reunion. Chris mentioned that his 20th reunion is coming up in 2007 and hopes to be able to get back home to get together with his classmates. Hopefully, they will be planning some kind of get-together.

I have an e-mail contact for Chris if there are any alumni of Telstar Class of 1987 that would like to get in touch with him.

Mollycodd Day

We decided to go to Bethel for Mollycodd Day on Saturday, watch the parade and walk around the common and check things out. There were several booths set up and we had to look at them all. To mention just a few: Cathy Newell was there at the Democrat tent; Lucia Colombaro was set up to enlighten people about Slow Food; and the Gilead Fire Department was cooking hot dogs, hamburgers and fries as fast as they could. There were other food booths selling lobster rolls, fries, fried dough, and desserts. Craft vendors displayed their wares including: baskets, jewelry, candles, and paintings. There was even a tent where anyone could get a massage. Just a little something for everyone.

The parade was great. There were several floats and quite a few groups that were walking. My grandchildren, William and Annie Chapman, were watching the parade with us along with their mother, Carole, and her friend, Rob. William was quick to pick up the candy that the parade participants threw as they went by. His pockets soon became filled, so I had to put the rest in my tote to bring home for him. Steve McLain drove the fire truck for the Gilead Fire Department in the parade.

Steve told me that after the parade he ran into a couple of his Gould classmates on the common. Cliff Jackson and Steve Dock were walking around along with Steve Dock's brother, Roger, who was a classmate of mine at Gould. That makes two week-ends in a row that my brother, Steve McLain, got to catch up with Cliff, because he was in town for the Newry Bicentennial the past weekend. Cliff missed Steve in Newry, but caught up with him later on.

We went into the Bethel Historical Society to check out the displays on Newry and Mollycodd. Of course, I had to go into the gift shop to see what was new for books. I spotted one by a local author, The Artistic Bungalow, by Danna Brown Nickerson. Randy Bennett came in and asked me if I had noticed the book about fire towers, "Looking Out for Our Forests," by Iris W. Baird. The author mentioned that my mother, Mildred McLain, had worked on the tower at Speckled Mountain in the early 1940s, before she was married. She was there to spot fires and airplanes. Needless to say, I ended up with two books.

Hugh had a chance to ride in a 1904 Cadillac owned by Richard Fraser. Richard was in Bethel visiting his mother, Doris Fraser, and visiting with people on the common. Richard's daughter, Mary Fraser Gray, and her son, Kyle, accompanied Richard to Bethel. Kyle rode with his grandfather in the Cadillac in the parade. Doris also had her sister, Phyllis Stevens of Norway, visiting her.

That pretty much wraps up our adventures at Mollycodd Day. We saw several other Gilead residents while we were there. We didn't get a chance to go down later in the evening to listen to music or watch the fireworks.

How about some news from the rest of Gilead. Call me at 836-2987 or e-mail me at chapmal@hotmail.com.

Mason

by Richard Grover

The last two or three weeks I have been helping on the construction of the addition to Craig and Jane Ryerson's house trailer.

With all the other things going on for me, it's usually only three or four days a week. With limited time for exercising, I decided one way to stay in shape was to ride my bicycle to work, a little over nine miles each way. Since I hadn't been on the bike much recently, I figured I'd start easy and only ride one way; I'd have Mona pick me up after work in the car.

Quitting time is 4:30 p.m. for us, and the first day I hung around until about 4:40 waiting for Mona. When she didn't show by that time I started riding, stopping at the intersection of Vernon and Tyler streets because I wasn't sure which way she'd be coming. Pretty soon, she came driving up from the direction of Craig and Jane's home.

"Where in the world have you been?" she asked me. "I waited for you until 4:40, and decided to start along."

"Well, I got down there about 4:30 and didn't find you anywhere. I looked in the trailer, in the shop and in the addition and didn't find you." She said. "Next time, you better wait for me."

Next day, I rode my bike again. This time, I waited until nearly 4:50, and still no Mona. I mounted up and started for home, thinking I'd meet her along the way. The further I got, the more I began to wonder what happened to her. By the time I hit the Flat Road, I had pretty much convinced myself she had fallen and hurt herself, or something. I kept riding.

Finally, I came up the Kings Highway, dismounting and walking up the last steep hill. About the time I crested the hill I looked up the road and saw Mona pushing her bike up the road and into our driveway.

Come to find out, she had ridden her bike to West Bethel and waited for me at the corner store until she gave up on me and headed home alone. After some discussion, we decided that I should carry the cell phone to work with me so I could phone home and get our plans together.

If you have traveled between Bethel and West Bethel, you probably noticed some road construction on Route 2. Well, I've noticed it too, and riding a bike gives you more time to observe things as you travel than when you drive a car.

Among other things I have noticed is the fact that the curves atop Robinson Hill are banked. At the west end of the hill, by Bucks, the road is banked toward the south. At the east end of the hill, it banks toward the north. Along the top of the hill there are several drain holes in the paved shoulder. At least three of these drain holes are on the high side of the road, where most of the water is going to drain away from the drains without ever going into them. Those pretty asphalt curbs do a pretty good job of preventing the water from draining off the road as well. I'm just wondering what schools of civil engineering dreamed up these methods of draining, or not draining water off the highway.

Greetings and hello from Albany Township. We hope everyone is surviving the heat alright.

Last Thursday's supper at the church was great. So many friendly folks, and such great food.

Next Thursday is the second meal, so, arrive early enough to get a seat. We were there at 5 p.m.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Hi readers. These days are good days with nice sunny, hot days and with a breeze. How we used to work in the fields hand raking and getting hay into the barn for the winter's feeding of the cows and horse.

We did not mind it then, but now it is a different story. We had our own milk and cream and cream for ice cream and our own hams, etc. Now, I do not think that Stoneham has any cows or hens. I guess you could guess that I have been reading the "Good Old Days" and "Reminisce" magazines.

Anyway, I had a caller recently and she said that someone had removed an angel from her father and mother's lot at the Hillside Cemetery here in Stoneham. She felt really badly about it. It was on Celia and Alfred Littlefield's grave lot. It had red glads in front of it. It was about the size of a table lamp and should be returned. Thank you. We have had this problem once in a while and hope it can be corrected.

On July 28, there will be a public supper at Hunts Corner in Albany. Supper starts at 5:30 p.m., but you can go in at 5. They put on awfully good suppers and you can sit down and be waited on. Also, Aug. 11 and 25 are the August dates.

I wish Stoneham's younger people could be more interested in putting on church suppers here. We used to take turns baking the beans and brown breads and solicited the casseroles, salads and pies and cakes. Those days are gone now.

You know what? Frances Grant and I were driving to Harrison one day recently and we saw a brown rabbit go across the road in front of us. I just have not seen a rabbit like that for many, many years. Maybe this one was a pet that got loose, but he looked like a wild one.

I had two meetings to go to this week, but did not make either one. Sorry. The Oxford County Republicans will be meeting on Aug. 9 at the Fryeburg Fair Grounds at 5:30 p.m. for social hour and 6:30 p.m. for supper. This is usually a good turnout of people.

Oh yes, the North Waterford World's Fair is July 22, 23 and 24. I believe Senior Citizens lunch will be at noon on Friday.

The Friendly Senior Citizens will be meeting at the North Waterford Church vestry on Aug. 3 with a potluck at 11:30 a.m. See you then.

I can't believe that Newry's Bicentennial has come and gone and I missed it. That is definitely my loss. Had hoped to make some of it. Sounds like everyone had a great time.

This Tuesday was the W.A.S.T.E. meeting. I will report on it next column as I am writing this before it happens.

Next weekend is the Waterford World's Fair — Friday-Sunday. There is entertainment every night, and all sorts of fun things happening during the day. On Friday, there is a pig scramble for the young ones, 6 and 7 year olds, a kid's tractor event, and a woman's skillet throw. Saturday, the 8 and 9 year olds get to do the pig scramble; Sunday, the 10 and 11 year olds do it. There is everything from a chocolate chip cookie contest (Sunday) to a pig roast on Saturday. Perhaps we'll make it there after work.

There is a public supper at the Albany Congregational Church next Thursday, the 28th starting at 5:30 p.m. Adults are $6, 8 through 12 $3.50, and children under 5 free.

Waterford Fall Foliage Race sign up is beginning. The race is not until Sept. 25, but due to large numbers expected, they ask that people sign up early. It begins in Waterford Flats and runs to Bear Mountain Inn.

There is a chili cook-off during and after the race. Free chili to all racers. Registration and more information can be had at www.active.com or 583-2603.

I missed most of Norway Art Festival, but did attend Poets on the Porch. It was well attended and those who read did a great job.

The decision to postpone the event one day, due to rain, was a great one. Some could not attend, but the rest stayed dry.

A reminder to all customers: the attendants at the Waterford Transfer Station (and all other transfer stations) are in charge. They are not telling you to do something just to be mean but because it is necessary.

Please listen and be helpful. Keep up the good job recycling. It saves us all money in the long run.

Have to file this early as we are off to two days at the beach.

Stay cool and enjoy the summer.

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School at 9:15 a.m.; morning worship at 10:30 a.m.; choir practice at 5 p.m. and evening service at 6 p.m.; Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. is prayer meeting; and Thursday morning at 9 a.m. is ladies prayer time. Sunday, July 24 The Musical Messengers, David Lloyd and Ben Conant, will be at the church. They will have special music in the morning service and much more in the evening service. Daily Vacation Bible School will be held at the church on Aug. 1 through 5 from 6 to 8 p.m. The Great Train Race is the name. Any child who pre-registers by July 31 will receive a prize on opening night. Please call 665-3133 for more information or to pre-register. Everyone is welcome. Charles Chandler will be at the church on July 31 to kick off V.B.S.

Judith Grover Tent 17 Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War met on Monday, July 11, at the Grange Hall. Five members were present. Elsie Bonney acted as president. The sale was discussed. They will have a duck pond, face painting and white elephant tables. Four members went to department conventions. The next meeting will be a picnic at Sally Sawyer's on Aug. 8 with a flag-burning service after the meeting, to dispose of the flags that were removed from the cemetery. Nine calls were made. Sally Sawyer received the mystery package. We voted to pay half of A.J.'s room at convention from D.U.V.'s fund. At the August picnic the tent will furnish hamburger, hot dogs and rolls. Each member is to bring something like a salad, drink or dessert.

Marybeth Hoover and her friend, Becky Leland, have been attending the Gratia Houghton Rinehart National High School Leadership Conference presented by the Young America's Foundation in Fairfax, Va. They toured Washington D.C. Beth and Steve Hoover drove out on Saturday and they all returned home Monday.

Alice and Ken Hoyt, Beatrice Farnum, JoAnn, David, Ray and Shawn Crockett and Sarah, and Bob Hoyt joined Jim, Charlene and Joseph Hoyt in Norway Sunday for a cook-out and to celebrate Joseph's 16th birthday early, as Joseph leaves for France on Sunday with a group of 25 young people to tour France, Italy and Greece with People to People student ambassador program. He will be gone for 20 days. This program fulfills the vision of our nation's 34th president, Dwight D. Eisenhower. He founded People to People back in 1956.

Callers on Beatrice Farnum on Wednesday were Phyllis Jordan, Waterford and Jane Palmer and Donna Reed, Freeport.

On July 9, Vicki and Paul Billings watched the Historical Museum. That evening at the meeting a video on L.L. Bean, supplied by them, was shown. Probably the most important development of the evening was the society voted to buy a dehumidifier. Damp and mildew have seriously threatened the society's collection and experts say this is the only solution, so they will do it. Flowers from the Billings family garden "Canterbury Bells" decorated the museum. Members of the society came in. The picnic in August will be at Joyce Howe's.

Thanks to all. Mary and Larry Billings have each watched the museum three times already this year. Their active support very often means the difference between keeping the museum open on Saturdays or having to close. Larry has been cleaning out some clutter from the Historical Museum. It will be in the flea market.

Maud Alice Hadley has been in the hospital. I hope she is feeling better soon.

John Campbell fixed a hole at the corner of Curtis Hill next to Route 26. It was much needed and appreciated.

Murill and Elizabeth Blazer have been dog-sitting for a few days.

I received a nice letter from Albert Cross, who lives in Alaska. He could not make it to our 50th class reunion, but let us know what he is doing. He still works and is doing fine. We were so glad to hear from him and his wife.

Ken Koskela has been installing some much-needed culverts here on the hill.

Rick Wing is now working as a foreman in electrical at KBS in South Paris. He is also working on his own. Wish him well in his new job.

Those making the honor roll at T.H.S. are: Chea Davis, Joshua Campbell and Bailey Davis. T.M.S.: Desarie Cox and Emma Davis.

My sister, Dotte Critser, Tempe, Ariz., has been able to return home from the rehab center after having a stroke. She is improving every day.

Summer is going fast, August is almost here. Time flies.

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Everyone is invited to the July Business After Hours, sponsored by W.J. Wheeler Insurance Agency, which is today (Thursday) from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at their office at 1 Parkway, Bethel. Join them for a cookout and meet their staff in celebration of 25 years doing business in Bethel.

The chamber would like to compliment the Mahoosuc Arts Council for the wonderful job they did coordinating Mollycodd Day. Vicki and Peter Rackliffe and scores of volunteers worked from Friday to Sunday ensuring a wonderful day for all vendors and attendees.

The chamber had a very busy and successful day with our three events: the Key Bank/Mollycodd Day Classic, our "famous" lobster roll booth on the common and the Great Duck Race, sponsored by AFLAC. Many thanks go to many businesses and individuals for their efforts. See the Duck Race ad in the newspaper for a list of business donors, lucky winners and volunteers.

As for the Key Bank Mollycodd Day Classic, we'd like to thank our sponsors and prize donors. They are: Key Bank, Pepsi Bottling Group, Goodwin's Insurance, NTL Institute, All Doles Cleaning Service & Harvest Carpentry, All Sports Events, True North Adventureware, Sunday River Ski Resort, Conant's Meat & Produce, Casablanca Cinema 4, Bethel Historical Society, Mahoosuc Arts Council, Mollycodd Motel & Swim Spa, Pat's Pizza, Healing Touch Therapeutic Massage, Crossroads Ice Cream & Smoothies, Smith & Town Printers, Bethel Foodliner.

Volunteers to be thanked are: Bethel Police; Dave Freiday; Bill Tout; Marvin Collins; Dwayne, Terrie Anne and Tyler Bennett; Jordan Ginsberg and Kate Loch; Fran Head; Sande Parker; Marjorie Osgood; Margo Reis; Joanne and Burt Best; Donna Whipple; Pete Rackliffe; Ray Higby; Jim and Julia Reuter; Kate and Jonathan Goldberg; Wende Gray; Pauline Applin; Paula Gillies; Mike Broderick; and Girls on the Run group. Results for the event are posted elsewhere in the paper.

Jim Largess, owner of Crossroads Diner & Deli, coordinated the lobster roll booth once again for the chamber. Many thanks to him for the hours he spends on this. Additionally, many thanks to the following volunteers working in the booth: Pat McCartney, Ria Higby, Bill White, Fran Head, Fred Nolte, Joanne Best, Mike Brown, Al Cressy, Sande Parker, Paula Gillies, Lynn Wilson, Mike Broderick, and Dave Freiday. Many thanks, additionally, to Doug Zinchuk for setting up and taking down the booth.

From Oxford County Democrats

The Oxford County Democrats will sponsor an Old Fashioned Chicken Pie Supper on Thursday, July 28, at the Locke Mills Legion Hall starting at 5:30 p.m., with Governor John E. Baldacci as the guest of honor.

The supper will benefit the Legion's roof replacement fund, and is open to the public. There will be a silent auction to benefit the County Democrats. Tickets for the supper may be reserved by calling 875-2116. Advance sale for adults is $9, those 65 and older $7, and under 12, $5.

Oxford County was represented at the Democratic State Committee meeting on Saturday, July 16, by Roy Gedat. The event was held in Aroostook County following the Potato Blossom Festival.

Local Democrats participated in Bethel's annual Mollycodd Day parade with a float depicting local children fishing in the Androscoggin. The booth on the Common was open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Plans are in the works for the 2006 State Convention with initial planning meetings being held in the coming weeks. Mike Broderick of Bethel, Joanne Morse of Waterford, and Malcolm Macdonald of Denmark are serving on the Platform Committee, India Haynes of Waterford on the Credentials Committee, and Nancy Willard of Woodstock on the Permanent Organization Committee. Marlee Turner of Brownfield is the representative on the Rules Committee.

The caucus meetings will be held in all towns on Sunday, March 5.

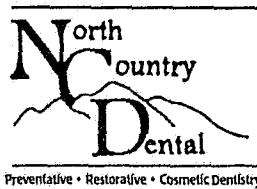

From the Andover Olde Home Days Committee

The annual Andover photography contest will be exhibited on Aug. 6 downstairs in the Town Hall. Photographs are categorized into three subject groups: Group A, Portraits,

A big crowd turned out for the Mollyockett Day parade on Main Street and events on the common. Clockwise, from right: the parade works its way up Main Street; the start of the adult 5-mile road race; the winning float by Stony Brook Recreation and Camping; Red Hat lady Sylvia Clanton; the Nazarine Church float. Winning second and third place in the float contest were The Funky Red Barn and Bethel Outdoor Adventure.

The Service Directory: 1x1 $41.60, 1x2 $83.20 for 13 Weeks!

Legionnaires have been very active this summer, participating in color guard ceremonies, presentation of educational awards at all schools in SAD44, Department of Maine Annual Convention, and clean-up, both inside and outside (these efforts are ongoing) at the legion home.

Members are advised to watch this column weekly for Post news, and expect in the mail more information on the summer picnic, scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 14, at the hall.

From the

Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

A wide range of activities are planned for this summer and fall at the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center on Broad Street.

On July 1, the Dr. Moses Mason House opened officially for its 32nd season. July 4 featured the 13th annual community picnic with the Portland Brass Quintet. On July 5, an exhibit "Newry at 200: A Bicentennial Glimpse" opened in the Robinson House.

The second weekend in August (12-14) will feature the 26th annual Sudbury Canada Days, which promises to be bigger and better than ever with 18th century re-enactors and craft demonstrators, a band, plus all the other usual events and activities (horseshoe, badminton, and croquet tournaments, flower show, historical videos, old-time children's games, children's parade, ice cream eating contest, log driver's bean supper, logging/farming exhibit, old-time hymn sing, and more).

The 14th annual Hall Memorial Lecture, which begins the weekend, will be presented by Bunny McBride, well-known Indian specialist and Adjunct Lecturer of Cultural Anthropology at Kansas State University, who will speak on "Molly Ockett and other Wabanaki Women Healers."

On Aug. 19, an exhibit, "Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon," sponsored by the Maine Humanities Council in cooperation with the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Services and the National Building Museum, with assistance from the National Trust for Historic Preservation, will open in the Dr. Moses Mason's Barn at 14 Broad Street, Bethel.

This project is made possible through the generous support of the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation and the Hearst Foundation. Additional funding has been provided by the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Smithsonian Institution Special Exhibit Fund, and the Smithsonian Institution Outreach Fund. This exhibit will be on display through Oct. 22.

During the time that this exhibit is in Bethel, there will be a number of local events designed to highlight its presence in the western Maine area.

Among them are the annual Meeting Lecture on Sept. 8 with Christi Mitchell of the Maine Historic Preservation Commission presenting a lecture on the history of Maine barns. A barn tour followed by a barn dance will be held on Sept. 17. There will be a harvest supper at Alder River Grange on Oct. 8 followed by Maine humorist Norbert Twichell. Bill Bunting will make a presentation on Oct. 13 at Pleasant Valley Grange on farm work in 19th and early 20th century Maine. On the last day of the exhibit in Bethel, Don Cyr, the Project Scholar, will make a slide presentation on the barns of Aroostook County.

The last lecture of the 2005 season will be on Nov. 10 and feature slide views of old photographs of the town of Newry followed by an oral history session in honor of that town's bicentenary.

Reunions

VAIL FAMILY

The 2005 Vail Family Reunion will be held on Aug. 6 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Mexico Recreation Park, Mexico. Any questions please e-mail Bill Blaisdell at Lledslalb@aol.com.

At the 2004 Vail Family Reunion there were members from as far as British Columbia, Pennsylvania, Nevada, Florida and Massachusetts.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU
 THE LANGUAGE OF FINANCING
 When you meet with a lender to apply for financing, you may feel as if you are in a foreign country as the loan officer talks points, Regulation Z margins, PMI, and ARMs.
 You are not alone if you feel left behind by loan terminology. Like many professionals, lenders use a highly specialized language. Don't hesitate to ask for a translation! This is especially true if you are investigating some of the more complicated loans with rates that can be adjusted periodically. As you consider the various loan options, find out what the interest rate will be and at what point the lender will commit to that rate. If the loan has an adjustable rate, be sure that you understand how often and by how much your payments can go up or down. Find out if a future buyer can assume the loan. The lender isn't trying to confuse you. The mortgage process is complicated, so just keep asking questions until you understand.
 For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771
